

Heather McClain was born and raised on the land of the Eklutna Dena'ina in the community known as Anchorage, Alaska. She received her Master of Arts in Anthropology with a Focus in Museum and Heritage Studies from the University of Denver and is currently pursuing her Master of Library and Information Science from the University of Washington. She currently serves as an Archivist at the Anchorage Museum and has worked in the museum field in Alaska for almost ten years. In her free time, she enjoys hiking with her dog Paisley, playing with cross-stitch patterns, and planning her next trips.
